Board Of Trade To Encourage The Locating Of A Laundry Here; Submit Brief On Trans-Canada Highway

Supper Meeting Scheduled For To Night; Plan On Having A Speaker From Lethbridge; Green Light Given Tourist Pamphlet

Coleman Board of Trade's executive maintained their near perfect attendance record this year by twelve members turning out Friday evening to discuss various pieces of business. President P. A. Dickenson presided. A letter was received from the Dept. of Economic Affairs, Edmonton, asking for pictures on local industry, business section, the schools, the hospitals, churches, residences and an aerial picture of the town. A committee comprising J. M. Allan, E. Gushul and A. Balloch was appointed to secure the pictures and send them to the department. The pictures are to be used in selling Alberta to the British immigrant. He will have a chance to determine the Alberta town in which he might wish to reside and then have a first hand view in pictures of the town itself.

Coleman is in need of a first class laundry plant. There have been occasions when visitors in our midst have had need of laundry service but were unable to secure it. The Board decided to run an advertisement in a Calgary paper advising interested parties that a good opportunity to establish a successful laundry plant in Coleman exists. Should the advert fail to produce the desired results the Board will carry its propaganda along the same lines as it did with the securing of a dentist.

Instead of printing 4,000 copies of the proposed tourist pamphlet the executive authorized the printing of 6,000. Material to be recorded in the pamphlet will now be gathered and the pamphlets themselves be printed and made ready for distribution on or about April. To finance the cost of the pamphlets advertising will have to be sold and a committee comprising J. Malanchuk, O. Celli and C. Huffman was appointed to raise the necessary revenue.

The Board, along with other Boards and councils, will submit a brief on the advantages of a Southern Trans-Canada Highway. President Dickenson was assigned this task. It was revealed that the Southern Trans-Canada Highway Association will send a delegation to Ottawa Dec. 14 when the Federal-Provincial conference on a Trans-Canada Highway will be discussed.

Last week motorists were having exceptionally "tough going" on Carbondale hill, the Blairmore Road and the incline immediately west of the Municipal hospital. The icy condition of the highway in all three places caused a number of cars to skid into the ditch and await help while others collided. The Board will send a letter to the Dept. of Public Works asking that the highway through the Pass be sanded at all points which prove hazardous to motoring and that a crew be based in the Pass to augment the present one man crew which exists at present. This is the only open highway from Alberta into south west British Columbia and through Kingsgate into the States and much traffic traverses its route throughout the winter and it should therefore be given increased attention.

Soliciting of the business section is again on the increase and the subject was discussed by the executive. Last year a minute was placed on the books giving protection against un-governed soliciting. A committee comprising Frank Duncanson and Frank Graham was set up to screen all requests to solicit the businessmen. If this committee decided against the granting of a permit business men were to feel entirely free to refuse a donation should the solicitors decide to solicit without the necessary permit. The permit system is for the advantage of all businessmen and those who ignore the presentation of a permit are definitely out of line with the policy of the Board. The subject will be brought up for discussion at the next meeting.

Frank Duncanson was assigned the task of contacting a few Lethbridge business men in order to secure a speaker for the supper meeting which is scheduled for this evening in the Grand Union Hotel. This will be the last meeting in 1948.

The Board will organize a hockey team to take part in the Coleman Commercial League. Ken Ross is in charge of team organization.

He left that evening and his father died the following day. Ed. returned home on Friday for Mrs. Somshor and they both returned to Ponoka and from there to Leduc to attend the funeral, Leduc being a former home of the family.

ANDY GARDINER WRITES FROM PORT ALBERNI

The Journal was pleasantly surprised last Friday morning upon opening the mail to find a brief note from Andy Gardiner, of Port Alberni, Vancouver Island.

Andy had read an article about a former Colemanite, Mike Czeck, in a west coast paper and sent a clipping to the old Home Town paper. The article will appear in The Journal's Christmas issue.

He wishes to be remembered to his friends here.

Evan Gushul Now Sole Proprietor Local Studio

Nelson-Gushul Studio Partnership Officially Ended Monday evening; Studio Name to Be Changed.

Thirteen months after its organization the Nelson-Gushul Studio partnership came to an end.

Mr. Evan Gushul has purchased the half share held by Mr. Jack Nelson and became sole owner on Tuesday morning. The studio's name will be changed to that of Evan Gushul Studio and Mr. Gushul will handle all professional and commercial work.

Mr. Nelson will continue to do amateur work and will have his workshop in his Fourth St. residence. Film may still be left at the main street studio where Mr. Nelson will pick it up.

Mrs. Gushul will aid her husband in the studio's front office and intends to extend the studio's business by stocking English bone china, plaques and novelty items.

Now It's Official!

A letter was received Tuesday morning by Coleman School Board from Mr. K. A. Pugh, chairman, Board of Industrial Relations, stating that a wage dispute between the Trustees and Coleman teachers no longer existed and that a satisfactory agreement to both parties had been reached.

The agreement referred to was the straight $300 annual wage boost across the board with no interference to other parts of the old contract.

Some misunderstanding prevails in the minds of some local teachers in regard to the contract for it is learned that they have told the Blairmore teachers, whose representative turned down an identical contract when offered them by the Blairmore Board, that it is not true that every Coleman teacher received a wage boost of $300 per year.

Blairmore Board chairman Sam Bannan has been approached by his teachers in regard to Coleman's contract and is finding it difficult, even with the aid of The Journal's report of last week, to convince them that Coleman teachers did receive $300 across the board with no strings attached and that they, through their representatives, turned down a similar offer.

MRS. A. WEBSTER STARTS BUSINESS AT CRESTON

Creston is an up and coming young fruit and lumber town and offers much to young and aggressive young businessmen. While in Coleman Mrs. Webster and her late husband operated Webster's Novelty Store.

Coleman Lions To Give Away Money

Friday, December 17, should be a big night for Coleman amateurs. On that night they will have the chance of displaying their talents before an appreciative audience. It has been a long time since the Coleman public has had the opportunity of enjoying a first class concert so the demand for tickets will undoubtedly be great. Besides affording enjoyment to the audience it will give these artists the opportunity to win a little public recognition as a slight recompense for their hours of hard work.

The program is varied with keen competition in the vocal, instrumental and variety field. There are specialty numbers including a gymnastic display and also a Mystery Act by two well known, local troubadours or would we say, Foredoers.

There are three prizes of $100, $50 and $20.00 each for the contestants placing first, second and third place, the standing to be determined by popular vote of the audience.

Could you use $100 just before Christmas? To date there are twenty entries but you still have time to place your entry at Pattinson's Hardware, or the Bank of Commerce. The deadline is Monday, December 13, so quit wavering and get in that application.

Tickets can be obtained from any Lion or from the Coleman Pharmacy. Meet your friends at the Coleman High School Auditorium at 8 p.m., Friday, Dec. 7. Admission 50c per person. Collectors will receive complimentary tickets.

OFF TO NEW YORK TO MEET FAMILY

Mr. S. F. Benedetto left last Thursday for New York where he will meet his wife and family upon their arrival from Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Benedetto and family left Coleman on or about 1933 for Italy and some time after Mr. Benedetto returned to Canada alone. This is the family's returning after a period of fifteen years.

Mr. Benedetto planned on visiting a sister in West Virginia whom he had not seen in over twenty years before returning to Coleman with his family.

Jim Cousins Spoke To Lions Club On Subject Of Berlin

High School teacher Jim Cousins addressed Coleman Lions club on Monday evening and chose for his subject the "Berlin Crisis".

He traced the start of the friction between the four great nations of Britain, United States, Russia and France. He painted a word picture of the split between Russia on the one side and Britain, United States and France on the other. He dwelt on the Berlin blockade and then on the air lift inaugurated by the three Western Powers and which has up to the moment defeated Russia's aim of completely blockading the great city and thus forcing the western powers to withdraw troops and their control in the German capital.

Hey, Youngsters, Santa's Comin' To Town

Santa Claus has just informed The Journal that he will be a fairly regular visitor to Coleman from Dec. 14 right up to mid-night Christmas Eve.

On Tuesday, December 14, he has promised the ladies of the Order of the Royal Purple that he will attend their Xmas tree concert and give all the kiddies present, gifts of candies, fruit, etc. The following night, Dec. 15, he will again bring his big bag of gifts and distribute gifts to all the little boys and girls attending the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters Xmas tree party.

He will be back on Friday night, Dec. 17, to take part in the Ladies Auxiliary, B.E.S.L. Christmas tree concert and again all the youngsters will be asked to gather round and receive gifts.

While he may not be at the service at Holy Ghost church for the youngsters, he has arranged to leave bags of candy and fruit with Father Sullivan who has agreed to see that all the youngsters at Sunday school will each receive a gift.

The Salvation Army Officers have also arranged with Santa to attend their Xmas Tree concert on Monday, Dec. 20 and again he will be present to greet the children and make them happy with a wide selection of gifts. The following evening, Dec. 21, he is to be very busy as he has promised to attend both the United Church Xmas tree concert and St. Alban's Xmas tree concert to meet the kiddies and give them gifts.

Christmas Eve Mom and Dad take over and help Santa with his big job of visiting the homes of all the kiddies.

Citizenship Ceremony Here This Afternoon

Judge Sissons of District Court Presiding; Pass Students Gather To Take Part In Ceremony.

This afternoon in the High School auditorium the first Citizenship Ceremony held in Coleman for many years took place. The ceremony was provided over by Judge Sissons, of the District Court, aided by the R.C.M.P. Blairmore Detachment, the school teachers and students. The number of new Canadians receiving their naturalization papers was not available.

Students from the local and Blairmore high schools numbering approximately 150, were present and heard Judge Sissons speak on Citizenship. In addition a Blairmore grade XII student read a paper on the "Responsibilities of Canadian Citizenship". A similar paper was prepared and read by Miss Anne Sikora, 16-year-old grade XI student of Coleman.

It is understood that Judge Sissons had first suggested that the Citizenship Ceremony be brought to the Pass and his suggestion was acted upon and arrangements made by Sergeant Murray, R.C.M.P. and his aides. Principal Hoyle and vice-principal H. Allen co-operated in the idea and the Board of Trustees also lent their support.

The Ceremony will provide training of the students' citizenship program taught in the schools.

Support T.B. Seal Sales

Is there a forgotten letter in your desk? A letter with Christmas Seals? Don't neglect that letter. It is important. Answer it today.

Periodical chest X-rays for everyone is the motto of the health workers who seek to stamp out tuberculosis. Your purchase of Christmas Seals will bring nearer the day when this dream may be realized.

Christmas Seals from different countries are enthusiastically sought by stamp collectors. Copies of early Seals are now very difficult to procure and are of considerable value.

The average cost of a case of tuberculosis, including loss of wage, clinic service and hospital care, is approximately $5,200. This is a luxury no one can afford. Buy Christmas Seals and help stamp out this disease.

The double-barred cross is the emblem of the campaign against tuberculosis.

Christmas Seal contributions are allowable income tax deductions.

W. A. McLeod, Of Pincher Creek, New Pass Magistrate

Magistrate W. A. McLeod, of Pincher Creek, who has been presiding over Pass court cases since the death of the late Magistrate Fred Antrobus, has had the Pass towns included in his territory. A Blairmore professional man had been suggested for the position of magistrate to succeed Magistrate Antrobus but apparently Edmonton had its own man for the job.

The matter of appointing a Justice of the Peace in Coleman for which position a Coleman man's name has been put forward has still not been dealt with by Edmonton.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

THE COMMON ENEMY

Two Opposing Factions
Will Unite To Oppose A Common Enemy.

"WHAT," said Martha Fordham with all the indignation she could muster, "is the last straw? No husband of mine is going to order me around ... tell me what I can and can't buy ... My own money too!"

Anger made her blue eyes snap and sparkle and the unruly lock of blonde hair which persisted in hanging down in front of her eyes when ever she found her temper boiling over was tossed back with a quick lift of her head.

The object of her anger stood at the small desk in the hallway of their small bungalow, a bill in his hand and grim determination on his face. This time she wouldn't get away with it. He had to put his foot down sometime ... and this was it!

"Twenty dollars," he roared, "jutting out his chin, 'is too much for any hat! If it was made of silver and garnished with gold it would still be too much. It ruins our budget ... it ...'" He groped for a word. "It's outrageous!"

"Outragious, is it?" Martha snapped. "It's my money and I'll spend it as I like and that's all I have to say to you this morning. I'm leaving for work. I've heard all I want to hear about that hat."

She jammed on the hat and flew out of the door, not forgetting to slam it behind her.

A purple-faced Dick Fordham was left with the bill for the hat clenched in his fist, his anger simmering at a white heat.

"And quite right, too," said a voice from the stairway. "If I was Martha I'd go home to mother!"

The owner of the voice, dressed in sober black with neat white lace collar and cuffs, finished her descent of the stairs and disappeared into the parlour. She was small, slight, with snow-white hair, spectacles which had a tendency to slip off the bridge of her nose, and she carried a paper-covered booklet under one arm.

Her son-in-law gradually recovered if she realized the incongruity of ed from his amazement and wonder.

her suggestion. "That's one thing she can't do," he thought grimly. "She can't go home to mother as long as mother lives here."

Finding no outlet for his anger he, too, left for work.

He wore a worried frown that day. Two upsels coming at once were just too much. The trouble he was having with Martha was just routine ... but he couldn't understand what had come over her mother. She was usually on his side. Always before she had been the perfect mother-in-law. Up until the last few days, that was.

"In fact," he thought, "up until she received that correspondence school booklet she's always carrying around. I wonder if that could have anything to do with it."

Both he and Martha had tried to discourage the old lady when she had got the idea of taking a correspondence course in what the advertisement called a "Comprehensive Survey of Caesar's Conquests." But it had been to no avail.

"It's time I was getting an education," the old lady had insisted and had refused to consider any substitute.

"Caesar's Conquests," Dick snorted. "I must be reaching her second childhood."

By closing time he had given up thinking about it in disgust.

Martha was already home when he got there and he could tell by her eyes that all was not forgotten.

"Well," Mr. Dick Fordham, she said, "I hope you've thought things over and are willing to admit that I've a perfect right to spend money I earn any way I see fit."

"But, Martha," Dick expostulated. "Don't you see. We're pooling our resources. Otherwise we would have had to wait to get married. We're trying to keep to a budget and, after all, you got a new hat not so long ago. There were other things we really needed."

Mrs. Adams had been sitting by the window in the parlour, her nose in her book. "Martha is right as always," she broke in. "And if it was her I'd leave you until you realize that she has some rights."

Both Dick and Martha stopped their bickering and looked at her in amazement. This was so unlike the gentle old lady.

"Martha should spend all her money on herself," she continued calmly. "Go to a nightclub, my dear. That's the quickest way I know. That nice Herb Johnson who used to take you out would be glad to go with you. That would teach that husband of yours a lesson."

"Mother!" Martha's scandalized tones spoke her amazement. "What are you suggesting? I wouldn't think of such a thing."

"You've a perfect right to spend your money," Mrs. Adams insisted. "Don't let him tell you what to do. Assert yourself."

Dick, nonplussed for once, kept silent.

"I'm only trying to help," Mrs. Adams said self-righteously. "I don't want my daughter tied to a stinky old ..."

"Mother!" Martha snapped. Don't talk that way about Dick. He's not stinky."

Unconsciously the two young people had drawn closer together to oppose this unexpected onslaught on their happiness.

"I'm sorry," Martha said to her husband, "about the whole thing. You were right." Dick put a protective arm around her while she turned worried eyes on her mother.

"I don't understand what's come over you, Mother," she said. "At almost looks as though you wanted to break up my marriage. I don't see how you can say the things you've said."

With the two of them together the fierce protective expression left Mrs. Adams' face and was replaced by the humorous twinkle they all knew so well.

"The results haven't been so bad," she pointed out.

Martha sat up suddenly, her tears forgotten, and stared at her mother, a look of comprehension slowly diffusing her features. She looked from her mother to Dick and back.

"You did it on purpose," she gasped. "You knew we would make up. How ... why ...?"

Mrs. Adams rocked gently and smiled her satisfaction. "Of course," she admitted calmly. "The results of my first lesson. If it worked for Caesar it would work for me. I'm well satisfied with the course, something useful almost on the first page. I'll read it to you."

She read aloud, a frown on her forehead as she formed the words. "In the face of danger it has often been found that two opposing factions will unite to oppose a common enemy."

"Caesar believed that implicitly," she informed them. "It says so here. He conquered the Gauls, you know." (Copyright Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate)

Western Canada's Biggest Turkey Flock
Being Fattened For Christmas Season

By A. H. CLARKE
Written Specially for Central Press Canadian

DRUMHELLER, Alta.—Mrs. Ben Brown, of Aene, Alberta, is not a bit worried about the "Turkey for Christmas dinner question," for nearly 4,000 of them are at present undergoing fattening in her poultry pens for the year-end market. The birds, crisscrossed in high wire and board fences in four pens, got their start from a normal-sized bantam flock over 12 years ago.

Each year the flock has increased until this season Mr. and Mrs. Brown hope that their spring breeding stock will include at least a thousand top ranking hens. Gobblers for the flock, in the past few years, have been imported at the rate of 75 from some of the largest turkey farms on the North American continent.

At the moment the best gobblers in the flock are close to 23 pounds in weight and should put on several more pounds within the next few weeks. Attending the birds is a man-sized job in the hands of John Chernowsky, former Navy man. Rodney Chernowsky, two years old, although only an inch taller than the birds, follows his dad through the flock nonchalantly, but with keen interest.

Credit for the flock, which is one of the biggest in Western Canada, is given to Mrs. Brown by her husband, who for a number of years ran one of the province's best hog ranches.

So far as the proprietors know they have not lost one turkey to coyotes, but have had most of their difficulty through hail storms, long wet springs and thunder storms. Two ranges of over five acres each are employed to raise the turkeys. Rotating from one pasture to another cuts down the chance of disease taking toll and provides fresh green feed for the flock.

The fluttering of a feather, or the dropping of a sparrow from the sky are sufficient distractions to stampede the whole flock of 4,000. In daily light hours the birds will quieten down in a few minutes, but at night time once they are off the roosts nervousness holds the birds on the move for a long period.

Water is a 325 gallon a day item to the birds during the present fall.

tening period, with feed going into an ever increasing amount. Present pens provide a roost capable of seating time once they are off the far side of the corral a shelter, which is protection against the hot sun and wind storm. On the range a wide belt of trees are protection against the elements and enemies to the flock.

In conformity with rules laid down by the Provincial Agricultural department, hens used for breeding must be banded, inspected and blood tested. The eggs are shipped to the large hatcheries for incubation. The average hen will lay approximately 30 eggs within the season.

Seventeen brooders, each with a capacity of 250 birds, are required at the Brown farm, each spring to get the young turkeys started. Care in handling, generous range space and good fences keep the number of cripples in the large flock down to a minimum.

WEYBURN—Addressing the Rotary club, Cpl. P. H. Nightingale, R.C.M.P. said that contrary to popular belief there was no religious significance in the name "Isa" in Croise. He said missionaries who first arrived there found natives playing lacrosse and the name actually means "island of lacrosse".

GLADSTONE, Man.—Gladstone Hospital district organization committee has under discussion a plan for two new units of four beds each at Plumans and Langruth.

HUDSON BAY, Sask.—John Herbeniuk and John Romanuk of Watson, Sask., went hunting deer in the Hudson Bay area, returned to report they had come across (1) an old bear as big as an "Aberdeen Angus steer" with three cubs; (2) a pack of timber wolves; but (3) no deer.

VANCOUVER—A 12-year record fall of 12.38 inches of rain damped Vancouver during the month of November.

ALBERTA MUSKRAT SEASON
EDMONTON—Alberta farmers have been advised by N. E. Tanner, provincial minister of lands and mines, that the government has declared a season on muskrats in all parts of the province, outside of registered trappings, from 12 noon, March 1, 1949, until midnight, May 14, 1949.

Hens and gobblers to be used for spring breeding are kept in the open throughout the winter. This fall a 12-foot wooden fence in the windward side has been erected to give the turkeys extra protection for those periods when the temperature registers below zero.

Gobblers are marketed at live weight. Fifty cents per pound, it is expected, will be this year's price.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

by Don Graham

How time-conscious are you? The man who tries to make the best use of his time can do more and better work per hour. And he is more likely to succeed.

Here are five time-saving hints that increase efficiency:

1. Study every aspect of your job to see where you can make shortcuts. (Sometimes two jobs can be done at once—e.g. the truck that mixes its load of concrete as it travels.)
2. Don't start to work gradually. Hit the job hard right from the start!
3. Plan your work according to a schedule. You need a "blueprint" for your time in order to estimate present and future needs.
4. Get the most efficient new tools available for your type of work. They'll pay for themselves many times over.
5. Have everything you need for the job ready before you start.

If you put these suggestions into practice they'll help make every working hour more valuable!

NOTES AND COMMENTS

TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY CONFERENCE

That the nine Dominion premiers realize the importance and far reaching effect to the nation's future economy of a Trans-Canada Highway is seen in the announcement that all of these key men will lead their respective provincial delegations to the Federal-Provincial conference on a Trans-Canada Highway scheduled to be held in Ottawa on December 14.

Alberta's premier Manning has gained in stature among Albertans and they will have full confidence in his presentations to the conference. Canada's economy has suffered particularly in the past decade simply because she has never seen fit to construct a Trans-Canada Highway.

A highway is required to facilitate travelling, to help tap the agricultural and industrial resources of the nation and to help promote the tourist trade which will reach into the hundreds of millions of dollars annually once a modern highway stretches unbroken from coast to coast.

Ottawa has at long last awakened to the urgent need of a Trans-Canada Highway. The provinces have been awake to its importance for years but did not have the money with which to construct the modern highway. Let Ottawa play its full part in the important discussions to start December 14 and one can almost be assured that the provinces will co-operate wholeheartedly. Everyone benefits, nobody is ses, should be the motto of the conference.

SPORTS' ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIP

Coleman Sports' Association is the backbone of local sports. Wage earners contribute twenty five cents monthly to the Association which in turn maintains sports facilities such as the skating and curling arenas sports field, etc.

There is an old saying that a new broom sweeps clean and possibly the new Sports' Association executive are sweeping just a little cleaner than their predecessors for it has come to light that while the vast majority of wage earners are contributing monthly there are a few who have been missed.

The Association plays too important a part in the Community life to permit of any wage earner not contributing to it. True membership is not compulsory but if anyone has any community pride in them they will not sit idly by and permit others to carry a load which they too should be sharing.

A Civic body instead of throwing out a letter asking for their co-operation in adopting a check-off system among employees for membership fees should be the first, as community leaders, to see that a check-off system is adopted and that their employees are contacted in an effort to gain a 100% membership and not just a 50% or 75% voluntary membership.

CIVIC CENTRE

The populace as a whole will be wondering if the Civic Center project has died a natural death or whether work is still being maintained in a determined effort to get a structure up.

A canvass of the business houses is being made to raise a substantial sum based on a three years period. The Civic Center as visualized today is estimated to cost $75,000. From that figure every businessman realizes that when solicited he will have to keep his sights raised as the ordinary small donation won't even begin to reach the proposed objective of several thousands of dollars from main-street alone.

The donation to the Civic Center will be an investment in the educational and recreational achievements in the future by the youth of today. It will provide other facilities however, chief of which will be a civic auditorium where the citizens can gather and hear and see musicians, artists, speakers, etc. pass in review.

When the businessmen come through with the objective set them and take the lead in the canvass for $75,000 then Coleman will be on the march towards its new goal... a Civic Centre. Then the other groups in town will be made aware of their respective objectives to make a dream come true. Let everyone donate... donate the maximum that their town might have the recreational facilities which it sorely needs in order to develop and bring to full bloom the talent possessed by so many of our citizens.

Gas Prices Reduced

Reductions in posted tank wagon prices of gasoline, kerosene, tractor distillate and diesel fuels throughout Alberta, effective immediately were announced today by Imperial Oil Ltd. Reductions are also being made throughout Saskatchewan and details will be announced today in Regina, officials said.

Prices at Edmonton and Calgary are now identical as a result of Edmonton becoming both a producing and a refining center. At Edmonton the reduction is 2.4c and at Calgary 1.5c per gallon. At other points prices include transportation costs from Calgary and Edmonton refineries and reductions vary accordingly.

Crude oil price reductions of 43 cents per barrel at the well in Turner Valley and 52 cents per barrel in Leduc, Woodbend and Redwater have been made. The new Turner Valley price schedule varies by two cents per degree gravity from $3.09 per barrel for 33 gravity to $3.71 per barrel for 64 gravity. The new Leduc and Woodbend price is $2.95 and Redwater $2.68 per barrel.

Previous prices in large measures reflected the importation of crude oil at high cost from distant United States sources which soon can be discontinued. The company stated that rapid development of Leduc and Woodbend and the promising outlook for the new Redwater field now give prairie refineries assurance of adequate domestic crude oil supplies.

The new Alberta well prices will permit Alberta production to compete successfully with present economic sources of U. S. crude wherever supplies from those sources hinge on the prairie market.

D.P. Terrorists

Toronto, Ont. — Punishment, including deportation, of DPs who engage in terrorist activities in Canada is demanded by the Association of United Ukrainian Canadians in a letter to the Minister of Justice.

The executive of the Association mentions several such terrorist attacks on its members within recent months: In Saskatoon, on Oct. 29, an organized group of DPs invaded the Ukrainian Labor Temple where a public meeting was in progress and threatened violence to the lecturer. While the police prevented violence, the organizers of the gang were not arrested or brought to responsibility.

In Edmonton, on Nov. 7th, another organized gang of DPs invaded a public meeting in the Gem Theatre and a bomb was exploded near the platform.

In Spedden, Alta., on Nov. 10, a gang led by a D.P. inflicted physical injury on W. Huchanuk, the business manager of a Ukrainian-language newspaper. These and other acts of violence by DPs have gone unpunished. The letter points out that this leniency — based on the argument that "they don't yet know Canadian ways" — only encourages further attacks on Canadians.

Pointing out that the Association had warned of this twice in appearances before the Senate Committee on Immigration, the A.U.C. demands protection of the person and property of Canadian citizens and urges stern punishment, including deportation, of D.P. terrorists.

George Dickson Wins A Cup In Vancouver Bowling

Bill Brown and George Dickson won the Murray Cup by defeating last year's winners, Peter Sharp and Bill Murray, 23 shots to 18, in the final of the opening doubles competition at the Pacific Indoor Lawn Bowling Club on Thursday night.

Playing brilliant bowls Brown and Dickson took a 21-10 lead on the first 16 ends, but Sharp and Murray scored three shots on each of the next two ends to cut the deficit to 21-16. They were laying six shots on the 19th end, which would have put them in the lead, but Dickson made a marvellous draw right on to the kitty with his last bowl to win the end and save the day.—Vancouver Sun.

Highest Hopes For Our Plan Have Been Fulfilled . . . Mitchell

To 2,800 men now resident in Canada, November, 1948, will always be a historic date, since it will see a final sentence written to the story of a period of their lives which began with the whine of German Stukas in the West and the thunder of Russian guns in the East.

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, announced Nov. 28, that by the end of November, about 2,800 of the 4,500 Polish veterans who came to Canada for a two-year period of employment in agriculture will have completed their agreement and will be free to choose any type of employment they wish.

Their stories would form the authentic basis for many novels. They vary, for they all did not follow the same road to the Allied camp. Some travelled half-way round the world before changing into a British battledress. Some spent time in Siberia on the way. Many arrived in time to plunge into the bloody slopes of Cassino, while others did not get their chance for revenge until those days south of Caen.

They celebrated with us on VE Day.

But in a few days came a bitter awakening. They had helped win a war, but somehow the victory had escaped them—they were men without a country.

Then representatives of the Canadian Government visited them and offered an opportunity to take up life in a free country if they agreed to take employment for two years on Canadian farms. To most of them who undertook the agreement the idea of farm life was exceptionally welcome for they were from Polish farms and for years they had dreamed of nothing else but to return to the land.

Now, their two years have been completed. They have discharged their obligation.

"I can now report," Mr. Mitchell said, "that our highest hopes for our plan have been fulfilled."

Mr. Mitchell recalled, "when the original plan was decided upon it was hoped that it would provide an opportunity for a new life in a free land for former comrades in arms, who by circumstances at the war's end were left without a country, and at the same time would provide Canada with urgently needed man power for maintaining the level of food production necessary at home and to fulfill our vital commitments abroad. Our expectations have been fulfilled."

The Minister said that the manner in which these new Canadians, now two years on their path to full Canadian Citizenship, generally had honored their agreements, was worthy of high commendation. Other later immigrants to Canada would do well to look to the majority of the Polish veterans for examples in the keeping of faith, and personal initiative and industry in their drive to establishment in their jobs and communities.

In order that plans could be made to help these men at the expiry of their terms of agreement, a questionnaire was sent out by the Department of Labor to every Polish veteran asking what he wished to do in the future. Each man was advised to remain in agriculture unless he had made definite arrangements for employment in some other industry. To date, 1,550 answers have been received to these questionnaires.

An examination of these answers reveals that 40% of those completing the questionnaire indicate a desire to remain in agriculture. About 50 have either bought farms or are planning to do so in the near future, while others had rented farms and were operating them on a crop-sharing basis.

A desire for work in industry was expressed by 50 per cent, but a large number of this group planned to go to the bush this winter and return to agriculture in the spring. Some of these men planned to use their earnings in the woods together with their savings to purchase farms of their own next year. The remaining 10% were undecided as to their future plans. More than 1,500 of the total number of Polish veterans in Canada have been granted permanent landing status and applications of the others are being dealt with as speedily as possible. When they first came to Canada, arrangements provided that they were to complete their terms of employment before being allowed to apply for "permanent landing." The conduct of the majority, however, was so satisfactory that the Canadian Government decided to shorten this waiting period before they were allowed to take this first step towards citizenship. The Minister explained that the granting of "permanent landing," did not relieve the veteran of his responsibility to his undertakings.

Approximately 1,600 additional Polish veterans were brought to Canada in 1947 and are scheduled to complete their farm employment agreements in the summer of 1949, bringing the total now in Canada to around 4,500. Of this total, eight have returned to Europe for family reasons, 17 have died and approximately 250 have

CHRISTMAS SEAL RETURNS

The Christmas Seal fund is nearing the halfway mark, both for the Province of Alberta, and for Lethbridge and district, according to C. Robert Dickey general secretary of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association.

A total of $6,350 has been contributed thus far in Lethbridge and district. It is reported by George Draffin, Chairman of the Kinsmen Club Christmas Seal Committee, sponsors of the Seal Sale for this territory. The objective is $12,500, which leaves $6,150 still to be raised. Mr. Draffin said he had every hope that this objective would be achieved by Christmas.

The provincial total reported by Mr. Dickey is $54,500 towards an objective of $125,000. Mr. Dickey said that this was the minimum figure that would permit the Association to carry on its extensive program of chest X-rays, rehabilitation, health education, etc.

Diversified Farming

WHILE FORTUNES HAVE BEEN MADE from the growing of wheat on the prairies, and many farmers who have not made fortunes have provided ample comfort and security for their families, the people of the West have always been aware of the uncertainties associated with the success of each year's wheat crop. The amount of rainfall, plant diseases, early frosts, insect pests and the trend of the market are all factors which each season determine the results of the farmers' work, and while much has been done in the way of controlling these hazards, the wheat crop is still not a certain source of income. However, many parts of the prairies are so exceptionally well suited to the growing of wheat that it has been planted in preference to all other crops and Western Canada has long been one of the world's foremost wheat-producing areas.

Many Awards For The West

In spite of this, agricultural experts and economists have frequently pointed out to Western farmers the need to undertake more mixed farming. The desirability of varying the use to which the land is put in order to make the best use of it, and to avoid impoverishing it, and also to ensure financial returns from sources other than wheat, should that crop fail, were among the reasons that diversified farming was advocated. A large number of farmers have followed this course with success. This was demonstrated at the Royal Winter Fair, held at Toronto in November, when Western exhibitors carried off many awards for cattle, dairy products, and grains other than wheat. The Eastern provinces, where mixed farming has been a long-established practice, no longer won all the highest awards in that field.

Are No Longer Vital Matters

Exhibitors from Manitoba won ten first and twenty-seven second prizes in livestock, while Alberta farmers took eight first prizes and twenty-seven second prizes for butter. It was also shown that the Western provinces had expanded greatly in the production of rye, barley and oats. Ontario, for many years the leading producer of rye planted 97,000 acres of that grain this year, while in Saskatchewan 655,000 acres were sown, Alberta had 310,000 acres and Manitoba 69,000 acres, producing a harvest of nearly 20,000,000 bushels. As a result of the spread of mixed farming in the West, neither the success of the wheat crop nor the price of wheat are now considered to be such vital matters as they were in the past. The prairies will without doubt continue to produce a large part of the world's wheat supply, but it is interesting and encouraging to know that the prosperity of the farmers no longer depends on the success or failure of this one crop.

FROZEN FLAX MAY CAUSE DEATH OF CATTLE

SASKATOON.—Frozen flax fed to cattle may bring about their death, authorities of the University of Saskatchewan said recently. They investigated several unusual deaths in cattle and found they died after eating frozen flax. Frost apparently brought potential cyanide in flax to the point where it became dangerous as animal feed.

DUTCH FARMERS TO COME TO CANADA

CALGARY.—About 5,000 Dutch families will come to Canada as immigrants in 1949, J. D. McIlhargey, inspector of immigration at Calgary, announced. He said all the immigrants will be experienced in agriculture and that Alberta farmers may hire as many of them as they wish for a period of one year.

MANY FINE HEREFORD CATTLE CHANGED HANDS AT RED DEER SALE

DESIGNED to give impetus to breeding of fine livestock in Central Alberta, a sale sponsored by the Central Alberta Hereford Breeders' Club at Red Deer recently inaugurated what is intended to be an annual event. Managed by Wilt J. Edgar of Innisfail, the sale was a marked success, more than 50 fine animals selling for an average of $306.00 to buyers from all parts of Alberta.

Twenty-five Hereford breeders of Central Alberta contributed animals to the first sale, many of them fine selections of females capable of improving the breeder stock of any Hereford herd. The top animals sold at good prices, a senior yearling heifer from E. C. and R. H. Stuart of Olney drawing the high bid of the day $750.00 and selling to M. B. Herbert of Delburne. M. B. and R. B. Herbert combined to buy four of the top priced animals, taking one from Wilt J. Edgar, Innisfail, and another from Loughheed Brothers, Bowden, both senior heifers at $750.00 and a fourth, also from Edgar at $350.00. Alex Gardner of Penitence, B.C., bought the third Edgar heifer at $350.00.

Riel Battle Site Said Disappearing

REGINA.—Remains of trenches used by General Middleton's forces in quelling the northwestern Rebellion of 1885 are said in danger of disappearing.

The trenches were used in the battle of Batoche which ended the rebellion started by Louis Riel, who was convicted of treason and hanged there.

Walter Tucker, provincial Liberal leader, said in a recent letter to the Historic Sites and Monuments board at Ottawa that the farmer whose land contained the trench remains was prevented from plowing them in as a possible crop and this fall only by dry weather.

The trenches are located at one corner of the farm 50 miles down the South Saskatchewan River and northeast of Saskatoon. Mr. Tucker urged that the trench area—about one acre—be purchased.

Municipalities Against Daylight Saving Time

WINNIPEG.—Little doubt as to the Manitoba rural dweller's sentiments on daylight saving time was left when the Union of Manitoba Municipalities voted on a resolution calling for a stand against the system "insofar as all of rural Manitoba is concerned."

"Why bother voting on it? We know what we think of it!" an elderly delegate exclaimed as the president, Ray Mitchell, of Grandview, put the question to the delegates in the civic auditorium.

He was right. The vote for the motion was unanimous, the only recorded unanimous vote of the entire three-day session.

Get Break On High Cost Of Living

VANCOUVER — Prince George students are getting a break from high living costs.

A model school dormitory for outside students provides board and room for only $25 monthly.

British Columbia school trustees in annual convention recently were given details of the dormitory—the only one of its kind in the province.

Last year 38 pupils from all parts of northern British Columbia stayed in the dormitory, and this year there will be 50.

Trustee G. E. Styles of Prince George, said an H-shaped army officers' mess building had been converted into the dormitory. Original cost of the building was $35,000. Moving and remodeling cost of $17,000.

Actual cost of housing a student is $33 a month, but the school board pays $4 a pupil and an additional $4 is paid by the department of education.

REHABILITATION SITUATION OF VETERANS GOOD

EDMONTON — General situation of Canada war veterans and their rehabilitation to civilian life is good—progress has been better than favorable with re-establishment of the fit practically completed, Hon. M. F. Gregg, V.C., Federal Minister of Veterans Affairs, said in Edmonton.

Mr. Gregg was in the city on his first official Edmonton inspection tour of D.V.A. establishments since taking his present position.

The decade, with its 17-year life span, is the longest-lived insect.

Many Homes For Princess' Royal Son

LONDON — Princess Elizabeth's son can call two palaces, three castles and three mansions his "home". He will spend some time in each every year. The two palaces—Buckingham Palace in London and Holyrood in Edinburgh—are the national state residences of his grandfather, the King.

Windsor Castle is another national state residence, while Balmoral Castle on Deeside, Scotland, is the King's private property.

The third castle, Glamis, is the highland seat of the family of his grandmother, the Queen.

One mansion—Sandringham in Norfolk—like Balmoral, is the King's private home.

The other two mansions are the homes of the child's parents. The first is Clarence House, St. James, their official London residence, which will be ready complete with a nursery floor, at the beginning of the year. The other is Windlesham Moor, their leased work-end home, with a 60-acre estate in Surrey, 23 miles from London.

All but the latter home, whose main attraction is a nine-hole golf course, have a story.

From childhood, the young prince will hear legends surrounding Holyrood House where Mary, Queen of Scots, lived for the greater part of her reign.

He will play hide-and-seek with the "ghosts" in Glamis Castle, like his grandmother and mother before him.

His birthplace, Buckingham Palace, has been the focal point of the United Kingdom in times of rejoicing for more than a century. Described as the ugliest palace in Europe, it has never been very popular with the Royal family.

Second home to which the new prince will be introduced is the 11,000-acre Sandringham estate where Princess Elizabeth will take him to spend a traditional Christmas with the rest of the Royal family.

His first Easter will probably be spent at Windsor Castle where the court also goes in residence for the Ascot races in the summer. There, he will play in the famous croquet used by Royal princes and princesses since the late 18th century.

Sometime during next summer and fall he will visit his three homes in Scotland.

West's Prosperity Barometer Of Canada's Economic Position

WINNIPEG — Increased revenue channelled through income tax collection offices in Western Canada indicates that prosperous conditions exist and that Western farmers and producers are receiving high prices, Revenue Minister, Hon. J. J. McCann, said.

Revenue collections in the west all points were a good barometer of Canada's economic position, he said. To day the barometer pointed to prosperity.

Dr. McCann, accompanied by two of his aides, David Sim and B. W. Scully, is on an inspection of the Revenue Department's western offices.

New Viscount Alexander Award Winner

George Lynch, Sports College member who has just been awarded the Viscount Alexander Trophy for being the outstanding junior athlete in Canada for 1948. The above picture shows Lynch well out in the lead in the mile event at the Canadian Legion indoor track carnival at Montreal last March. Lynch made a new Canadian junior indoor record in this race.

George Lynch, 17-year-old track wizard who has just been awarded the Viscount Alexander Trophy as the outstanding junior athlete in Canada for 1948, is a "coach's dream" says his coach, Lloyd "Ace" Percival. According to Percival, Lynch's unfailing determination and willingness to follow training and coaching instruction to the exact letter is the reason why he has completely dominated his field since 1946 when he first began to run. His amazing record includes the winning of 38 city, provincial, national and international championships and the breaking of 18 records. His peak performance was his winning of the United States National Boys' Mile Championship at

Canada Has Less Mills; More Flour

OTTAWA—Canada has fewer flour mills than last year, but the capacity of the mills has increased.

The bureau of statistics reported that there are 174 wheat flour mills in Canada, seven less than last year. Total daily capacity of the mills is 107,034 barrels in 24 hours, 5,500 barrels greater than last year. This is the result of expansion in some of the plants.

Ontario mills total 78 against 82 in 1947. Mills in other provinces with 1947 figures bracketed: Alberta, 31 (35); Saskatchewan, 29 (30); Manitoba, 25 (23); British Columbia, 5 (5).

Ninety Boys And Girls Win Rewards For Junior Club Work

A VISIT to Niagara Falls, premium seats at the Royal Winter Fair's Horse Show, a tour of the Houses of Parliament, banquets and professional magicians, trips through farm machinery and meat packing plants—these were the rewards for application to junior club work won by 53 boys and 37 girls in mid-November.

These events climaxed for the rural young people the result of their years in rural clubs. There, under the guidance of agricultural representatives, department fieldmen and local farmer leaders, the teen-agers had become so proficient in at least one phase of agriculture that they were selected to compete for national honours.

Successful in local, regional and provincial elimination contests, the 45 two-member provincial championship teams competed at Toronto in the annual national contests for boys' and girls' farm clubs. For these, as for the sight-seeing and educational tours of Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and Ottawa, they were guests of the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work, a non-profit organization sponsored by Dominion and provincial governments, national railway systems, business firms and farm organizations.

Each team competed in one of eight projects: dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine, poultry, seed grain, seed potatoes, foods and clothing. The contests were strenuous, whether they required the contestant to bake a batch of tea biscuits or to prepare proper placings to bacon carcasses. But during them and the entertainment which followed, the junior farmers kept their poise even though flash bulbs made them pop their eyes, microphones were thrust in front of them and reporters quizzed them on their hobbies and the size of the home farm.

Leading teams of these representatives of the 45,000 rural youth enrolled in club work under the Council's auspices were:
